

From the Admin Team

We are so happy to see spring and all the beauty that comes with it.

The children and staff enjoyed all of the events for the Week of the Young Child. Thank you for all of your participation and we will continue the tradition next year.

We want to say a BIG THANK YOU to all of our families for making our Family Game Night a huge success! We look forward to having other family events in the near future. We hope that you all had the opportunity to meet our Better Together Team who hosted our Family Game Night.

Another success was the Artome Art Show. The children did an amazing job with their art pieces. We hope you enjoyed them as much as we did.

Our center will have a very busy May. Please take the time to add special dates to your calendar that are listed on the right.

Each component will also put special events for their classroom on your Teaching Strategies Gold (TSG) calendar as well.

We are changing over to a new accounting system called Bright Star. More information will be sent to the families regarding the switch.

We want to take the time to welcome Ms. Monique back from maternity leave. She has a beautiful baby girl named Moniyrah Oyakhilome.

What is School Readiness?

READY for SCHOOL Parent News: What does School Readiness Really Mean?

A report that grew out of a partnership of 17 states identified five factors most important in children who are ready for school or what the report calls “Ready Children”. These factors included:

- Overall physical well-being and motor development: Children possessing age-appropriate fine motor skills which involve coordinating their eyes and hands to complete tasks such as stacking blocks; putting together puzzles; connecting building toys like Legos®; drawing and using a paint brush; or writing, typically experience success in school.
- Social and emotional development: Children who interact positively with other children typically also do well in a school setting. Many of the skills children learn from their families and in child care such as taking turns, sharing, listening to others, developing empathy, and functioning as part of a group, help with school success.
- Approaches to Learning: The ability to follow through on one-step directions (“Hang up your coat”) or multi-step directions (“Get some crayons, take them to the writing table and have a seat”) is another school readiness indicator. Cooperativeness, persistence, independence, curiosity and creativity are also important.
- Cognition and General Knowledge: Developing an observant, inquisitive mind which looks at, labels, asks questions, notes similarities and differences, and solves problems is another important school skill.
- Language Development and Literacy: The development of a significant talking (expressive) and understanding (receptive) vocabulary is important as well as later recognizing the relationships between letters and sounds.

Not surprisingly, only one of these factors, recognizing the connection between letters and their sounds, is what we typically think of as a school readiness skill. Instead, a well-rounded child who interacts well with others, follows directions, effectively uses her hands to manipulate small parts, and has an inquisitive mind, possesses key readiness skills.

Also not surprisingly, the report states that families can play a critical role in preparing their children for school success is by reading to them daily, starting when children are infants and toddlers. Enrollment in high quality child care programs is another factor in school success.

For more information, you won’t want to miss the May 7th webinar, Mind in the Making: The Seven Essential Life Skills Every Child Needs with Ellen Galinsky. This session will provide even further insight into the key school and life readiness skills that may be less familiar to parents. MIND in the Making

Bright Horizons, in conjunction with Families and Work Institute invites you to join Ellen Galinsky for our next parent webinar about the skills adults and children need in order to succeed in the 21st century.

Mind in the Making: Executive Function and the Seven Essential Life Skills
Every Child Needs
Tuesday, May 7, 2013
8:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m. EST

For over a decade, Ms. Galinsky has worked with top researchers from across the country, filming their experiments and studying their results how we learn best. In her recently released highly acclaimed best selling book, Mind in the Making (Harper Collins 2010), she identifies seven life skills that are essential to success—in school, the workforce and in life.

During the webinar, Ellen will outline the meaning and importance of Executive Function of the brain and why they underlie Life Skills, describe the seven essential Life Skills, as well as provide parents with easy everyday things they can do to foster these Life Skills in their children and themselves. Attendees will see videos of researchers “in action” sharing studies on the topic, and gain the ability to apply what is presented not only to parenting techniques but adult learning as well. In addition, 5 lucky webinar attendees will receive a free copy of Mind in the Making.

To register for this webinar, please visit www.brighthorizons.com/mindinthemaking.
